Criteria for Usage of This Material

Reading and Writing Skills for the California High School Exit Exam

Math Skills Review for the California High School Exit Exam

The purpose of these two PASS courses is to assist students with the application of Standards based reading, writing and mathematical concepts. They are designed to offer meaningful exercises so that students can make connections between theory and practice.

Students who have demonstrated a deficiency in reading, writing and mathematical concepts that are tested on the California High School Exit Exam (CAHSEE) can be placed in this coursework as an intervention methodology. However, this material can better enhance instruction if it is introduced as a supplement to the regular core reading, writing and mathematics course offerings. It is recommended that this material be used as an intervention tool or as additional preparation for the CAHSEE. It is not intended to replace Core instruction.

It is imperative that the instruction for this course work is provided by a certified Language Arts teacher and a certified Mathematics teacher. Students need to be guided through the content of both of these courses by experts who understand the vocabulary, theory and practice of each of the content areas.
